THE CANCER FUND CAMPAIGN CHAIRMAN SAYS

More than 200,000 deaths will occur from cancer this year. Seventy thousand of these could be prevented by early diagnosis and prompt and effective treatment. More than 20 million people alive in the United States today will die of cancer unless preventative measures are found or more adequate treatment discovered. About one out of every seven people who die dies of cancer. This disease is the number 2 cause of death in our state and country.

One out of every two homes will be struck by cancer. During the course of World War II, approximately two and one half times as many deaths were caused by cancer at home as were caused by hostilities in the armed services. Is it any wonder that so many people are genuinely interested and are devoting time, work and money to the prevention and cure of cancer? They realize that they are not only serving their fellows well, but protecting themselves and their own families.

It is not generally known that in World War II five million men between the ages of 18 and 37 were rejected from military service on a medical basis, and of these, 32,000 were unavailable for military service because they had suffered from cancer and other neoplasms.

All of us feel, I believe, that apart from the deaths and suffering which we all have felt in some measure in our personal lives and the lives of loved ones, the economic loss alone is sufficiently compelling to demand more and more attention from us all. The Congress, the Mississippi Legislature, and our voluntary organization, the American Cancer Society, Mississippi Division, more and more realize our common responsibility and privilege to go forward with hard work and funds to carry on effectively the educational service and research programs absolutely necessary for the ultimate control of the greatest disease gangster of them all—CANCER.

SPRINGTIME ON THE COAST AND BLOSSOMTIME AT THE YACHT CLUB

"Only God Can Make a Tree," wrote a great poet, and from time immemorial flowers are loved by all men. Used always to celebrate the good things of life, to represent beauty and love among men, flowers with their exquisite perfection and exotic odors are the one gift from God to man that has never in history caused strife.

Solomon parables in his song, "I am the Rose of Sharon and the Lily of the Valleys." Our own Divine Savior tells us to "consider the lilies how they grow: they toil not, they spin not; and yet I say unto you, that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." The humblest cottage of the peasant is glorified by riotous colored blooms, the most magnificent mansions of the wealthy are cold and incomplete when minus the splendor of flowers.

The ancient Pagan and the modern Christian honor the supreme beings of their worship by flowers placed on altars, before which the heads of all men are bowed in prayer. For all festive occasions, flowers are the adornment of beauty. For all goodbyes to loved ones leaving this earth, flowers are the symbol of love.

And so, once each year, for the benefit of all to enjoy and feast the eyes upon, the Bay Waveland Garden Club has an annual flower show. This year the beauties of nature will be displayed at the Yacht Club, on Thursday, April 17 and Friday, April 18. Everyone is invited to display his or her flowers, whether by arrangement or horticulture, rare blooms, or wildflowers of the open field, which have been tenderly nurtured only by the hand of God. All entries are urged and welcomed. It is not necessary to be a member of the Bay Waveland Garden Club, or any garden club, just enter your bloom, an impartial judging of all entries will be given. The entire community is wanted to appreciate and enjoy the displays on either day. No charge for admission, just come and share the incomparable beauty of the flowers, the gift of benevolence from our Creator to all men.

ANNUAL REPORT 1951

HANCOCK COUNTY SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT

Part II

During the year, the Soil Conservation District has been very active in its work. It has been successful in securing the cooperation of the landowners and the public in the conservation of the soil. The district has been successful in securing the cooperation of the landowners and the public in the conservation of the soil.

traces that were over-crowded, my young trees. I checked and thinned the thick stands and the trees for timber and pasture. Last year 439 acres were planted. Last year 439 acres were planted. Last year 439 acres were planted.

All of the District cooperators are cooperating with the State Forest Service to prevent wood fires. State Forest Service has been very successful in securing the cooperation of the landowners and the public in the conservation of the soil.

BAY HIGH NEWS PARAGRAPHS

All pupils in the Elementary Grades had an egg hunt on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Chambers and Mrs. Adams' pupils helped in this hunt. The egg hunt was very successful and the pupils enjoyed it very much.

The third grade, along with their teacher, Miss Spotorno, had their egg hunt at the home of Mrs. Paul Miller.

Little Mary Alice Mitchell, the first grade pupil who was so badly burned, 245 active cooperators covering 30,382 acres of land in Hancock Soil Conservation District.

We Commissioners recognize the fine conservation work being carried out in the forests of International Paper Company and Crosby Forest Products Company during the past year.

The International Paper Company constructed on their private forest, 25 miles of firebreaks, 26 miles of forest roads, planted 300,000 pine seedlings on idle land, thinned 2,000 acres of thick stands of pine trees.

Crosby Forest Products Company planted 300,000 pine seedlings on idle land, built 10 miles of forest roads, practiced selective cutting on 1,000 acres of pine land, constructed approximately 500 miles of firebreaks, have two tractor truck units equipped with radio utilized in this county for report.

Mr. Fitzhugh Lee says, "I think we have enough evidence to back me up in what I am about to say. I think we have had the cart placed before the horse in the past years, if we farmers could have had a Soil Conservation Plan when we began farm years ago, with all our time and money we have put into our farms, if we had just known the proper way to utilize them to the best advantage or according to the conservation plan, we would have had more conservation on our farms to show for than we have today. Soil Conservation is the foundation of all basic farming in our county."

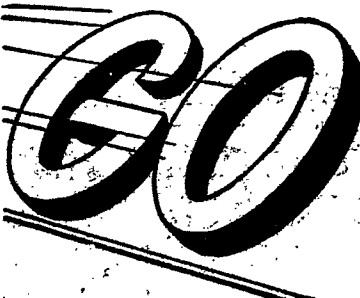

Mr. Smith said, "I had a hard time assisting in organizing the Soil Conservation District in Hancock County. Now we have gone a long way towards a satisfactory program."

Two hundred seventy four farmers have farm plans to work by now. By the end of 1952 we hope to assist about 30 more farmers with farm plans.

We wish to express our appreciation to the Soil Conservation Service technicians in the District for their valuable assistance in making soil surveys, land capability maps, farm plans and assisting the District cooperators in carrying out their soil conservation work. We also wish to extend thanks to the County Agent and Home Demonstration Agent for their valuable assistance, assisting in the educational program, tours and demonstrations. Production and Marketing Administration is to be thanked for their cooperation in furnishing financial assistance in carrying out the Soil Conservation Program. We wish to express our appreciation to Farmers Home Administration for their splendid cooperation in assisting us to carry out a good conservation program to their clients' farms.

Mrs. McCaleb, the former Jewel Toal of Bay-St. Louis, has served in a secretarial capacity at Bay High for several years. Taking her place is Miss Cecil McCaleb, alumna of Bay High, Class of '51.

ORIENTATION

Friday, March 23 was orientation day for the eighth grade students in Hancock county who will attend Bay High next year. The visiting students were assigned to sections of the present freshman class and followed the regular schedule throughout the day. The purpose of this visit was to acquaint the students with all phases of the school program so that their adjustments to a new school next year will be easier. The teachers and students enjoyed having these future Bay High students in their midst, and the visitors apparently adjusted themselves immediately to their future school environment.

The eighth grade students who spent the day from the various schools in the county were: Logtown—Tommy Holden, Barney Lee Bennett, Pat Jones, Gloria Arthur, Ella Rae Ruffin, Ruth Bennett and Viola Lee. Waveland—Walter Damiani, Otto Bourgeois, Richard Noonan, Eloise Lafontaine, Catherine Stieffel and Martha Holt.

Gulfview—Evelyn Ladner, Patsy Lunich, Helen Shubert, Viva O'Farrell, Hayward Spiers, Victor Neacise, Sherman Neacise, Herlon Fayard, Clayton Fricks, Terry Asher, Betty Ann Fricks, Charles Moran, J. V. Ladner and Jimmy Asher.

Clermont Harbor—John Perkins, Larry Peterson and Sue Klein.

John Oliver, a senior this year, took a Civil Service examination for stenographer in Gulfport April 4. John reports that even though the examination lasted from 1:30 until 5 o'clock, it did not seem too difficult. The examination consisted of a general information test; typewriting test, with speed requirement of 40 words per minute; and a shorthand test with dictation at the rate of 100 words per minute. Several other seniors are also planning on taking this examination.

Miss Sybil Koeniger has recently taken over duties as full-time English teacher in the junior high school. A vacancy occurred when Mrs. Cunningham resigned due to the fact that her husband, who is a member of the armed forces, was being transferred from Keesler Field. This necessitated making some adjustments in the schedule.

WEEKLY NEWS LETTER

By W. F. BOND, COMMISSIONER
State Dept. Public Welfare

Recently when it was explained to the sons of a fine old gentleman drawing old age assistance that their father would have to be taken off the payroll because of their income, they immediately became very much interested personally and after a conference with the county welfare office agreed to send the father a certain amount of money on the first of every month. The father now says he is happier than he has been in a long time because the amount he is receiving monthly from the sons is nearly twice what he was getting from the State and he feels that his sons are now more interested in him than before this arrangement was made.

This is only one of many such plans that have been worked out by the county welfare workers with the coop-

Camp has been set for June 16 for the Intermediates at the Gulfport. Brownies will attend June 30 to July 11. We will have more about camp later.

Several girl scouts may subscribe a special half price Girl Scout year to the "American" magazine. Five or more subscribers will be by the troop leaders. Troop subscription order blank.

HATS OFF!

And a special Girl Scout salute to all of you who purchased the Girl Scout cookies, sold them, and helped in various ways to make the sale a success. . . to Mr. Frank Quintini for entertaining Brownie Troop 3 (formerly Troop 1) at the fire house. . . to the Girl Scout's own Mrs. J. B. Goldman who has helped us all with her ever-ready interest, support and advice. . . to Mrs. C. C. McDonald for her continued help and interest. . . to Mrs. John Hebert for directing the play "The Brownie Story" for troop 1. . . to Miss Sybil Koeniger for teaching square dancing and her able substituting for leaders.

TROOP REPORTS

Brownie Troop 2 held their regular weekly meeting Thursday, April 3 at the Methodist Educational Building. A short business session was held. The cookie sale was checked. Troop songs were learned. Plans were made for an Easter egg hunt, and a friendship circle was formed. Eva Kramer was selected as scribe for the week, Nita Kay Erwin as president for the week, and Diane Grass as treasurer.

Brownie Troop 3, with 31 members, sold 696 boxes of cookies, a record. Four of the members are thus eligible for "The 52 Club."

The Intermediate Girl Scout troop sponsored by the Rotary Club met at the Youth Center on Wednesday. One new member, Gail Colson, was admitted. The flag test was passed by Patricia Bennett, Ann Ferry and Gail Colson.

For handicraft work the girls made Zula pins, finishing them at the meeting. Plans for the investiture ceremony were made, the refreshment committee consisting of Kathleen Joyce, Gail Bandaret and Gail Colson. The program committee is Lynn Witter, Ann Blanchard and Anne Ferry. Gail Poyadou and Patricia Bennett are reporters.

Girl Scout Troop 1 has divided into three patrols, with Catherine Alliston, Paula Kimball and Ann Marie Mendell as patrol leaders. Meetings are held at the Episcopal Church Sunday School room.

The troop is busy rehearsing for the investiture ceremony, planning a party for that time for the parents following the ceremony. Designs for the invitations to be sent were practiced. The leader read a prayer which might be used in the ceremony.

This troop is having a series of "Juliette Low Breakfasts" on Saturday mornings on the beach at Mrs. Chamberlain's. Members who have read the book, "Juliette Low: Girl Scout" are invited to attend. Those attending the first "cook-out" breakfast were Rosalie Coward, Jeanne Larroux, Linda Laddner, Gwen Heitzmann and Baynard Chamberlain. (We're sorry you couldn't come, Cathy Alliston!) Brigadier, the Chamberlain's cocker spaniel, also enjoyed a breakfast of fried eggs and bacon, thanks to the unintentional kindness of Gwen Heitzmann. Better luck next time, Gwen!

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

A girl Scout's honor is to be trusted. People who keep appointments punctually are not as plentiful as you may imagine.

AMERICAN IN PARIS AT DRIVEN IN MON. TUE.

The brilliant work of George Gerswin provides the splendid background for "An American in Paris" which stars Gene Kelly with an outstanding cast of talented stars in one of the most sumptuous and captivating Technicolor songs-and-dances productions to stem from the prolific M-G-M studios in a decade of film musicals.

The City of Paris, as depicted in the new offering on the Hi-Way Drive-In Theatre screen Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with all its beauty, romance and gaiety, is actually one of the stars of this delightful picture, along with Kelly, the French Ballet dancer Leslie Caron, piano-playing Oscar Levant, singing George Gerswin and Nina Foch. They all get together in the story of Jerry Mulligan, happy-go-lucky ex-G.I., who has stayed on in Paris after the war to seek out a precarious but happy existence in a Paris attic on the famous Left Bank in the hope of someday becoming a world-famous painter.

This quest of an artistic career brings about a number of complications for Jerry (Gene Kelly), complication No. One being the amiable, very rich and predatory American girl, Milo Roberts, who is determined to make Jerry her protegee but finds that all the money in the world cannot buy love. Complication No. 2 occurs in the person of the captivating French perfume salesgirl, Lise (Leslie Caron), with whom Jerry falls head-over-heels in love, despite the fact that she is betrothed to another man. Since it is impossible to remain in Paris for very long and be unhappy, the various plot dilemmas are resolved in the picture's final sequence which takes place against a striking and colorful Art Student's Ball.

There is hardly a moment in the story of "An American in Paris" when someone doesn't dance or sing, with Gene Kelly in his usual brilliant form in several novel hoofing routines and in numbers with Leslie Caron, the enchanting dancer whom he personally discovered when she danced with the Ballet des Champs Elysees in Paris.

"The sweet potato is one of the safest cash crops to grow," he said, "and it is unusual for the sweet potato to be seriously affected by drought, as was the case in 1951."
